THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. In mid-August the 36 North Korean Army Hospital,<sup>2</sup> which was attached to the Medical Department of the General Supply Department, North Korean army general headquarters, comprised a dispensary at approximately 126-49, 39-13 (CU-125411), sick wards in three civilian houses at approximately CU-119419, and sick wards in three civilian houses at approximately CU-112425. Several air-raid shelters, each of which had floor heating systems, were in the area. The hospital could accommodate 600 patients. Soviet-made and Chinese-made medicines were used. The daily ration for each patient was soy bean oil, vegetables, bean curd, soy bean buds, salt soup, and 800 grams of rice. Pork was served two or three times a week. Each patient was issued two suits of summer clothes, one suit of winter clothes, and three suits of underwear.
2. From 25 August to 5 September a hospital under the North Korean army general headquarters, with 20 Soviet doctors, 200 nurses, 200 guards, and 1,000 patients, was in civilian houses at approximately 126-38, 39-13 (BU-965434).
3. From 5 to 11 September a medical treatment section for higher officers of the North Korean army was in ten civilian houses at approximately 125-50, 39-06 (YD-453317). The section had 120 patients, 9 surgeons, and 40 nurses. Most of the medical supplies were American-made.
